LET ME BE THE KEEPER OF YOUR LIFE

- Ch. Let me be the keeper of your life
  Give to me your sorrow, pain and strife
  And if you feel so alone you want to run and hide
  Remember, it was for you that I died
- 1. Your heart is stifled behind walls of insecurity
  I can take your fear and give you joy enough to sing
  For I have promised to release you from the chains that bind
  Just come and lay your tears at the feet of the King
- Ch. And let me be the keeper of your life
  Give to me your sorrow, pain and strife
  And if you feel so alone you want to run and hide
  Remember, it was for you that I died

But now that I'm alive again I want to live in you Oh, can't you hear me knocking at your door? I want to prove the peace that I am offering is true I have so much love to give, a kind you've never known before

2. Well, I was scorned and lonely too, forsaken by all men
Like you, my heart was weary as I saw all that I'd done
Twisted, torn and thrown away by those who thought they knew
They bound me and they beat me then they crucified the Son

But light defeated darkness and so it shall be forever Death's dark power is overthrown You can have the victory I give it all to you Just put your trust in me

Ch. And I will be the keeper of your life
Give to me your sorrow, pain and strife
And when you see that you have found what you've been searching for You'll never be alone anymore

Yes, when you see that you have found what you've been searching for You'll never be alone anymore
